

Since the Do Not Call law went into effect in New Jersey, my life has been made more pleasant. Having the ability to block obnoxious telemarketing calls is a godsend. My phone has stopped ringing more than 20 - 30 times a day with unwanted solicitations.

The telemarketers may argue free speech; I argue back the sanctity of my home and the possibility of a peaceful time with my family, rather than the constant ringing during dinner.

New Jersey has made the right decision in their strong Do No Call law, DO NOT take it away, rather, bring the federal law up to ours!
